OVERVIEW

Dear Colleagues,

It is a great pleasure to invite you to take part in the The 1st Biometrics Middle East Conference. In the last few years the Middle East region has seen some substantial developments in its biometrics technology especially in regards to accessing mobile devices, identity management solutions, smart technologies for border security and e-gates.

The UAE has already established the world's largest biometric database, which includes over 135 million fingerprint, hand/palm prints and facial images of citizens, Qatar and Saudi Arabia are also expected to see increasing demand for advanced security systems. Increasing government security spending, rising number of tourists coming to Middle East, big projects in the region and upcoming events such as Expo 2020 and FIFA 2022, are the major factors driving the growth of biometrics systems in the Middle East.

These gigantic events will bring immense pressure to the airports, forcing them to process the traveler as quickly and as safely as possible, without compromising the security of the airport or border control processes. The use of biometric technology in Qatar and UAE's airports has helped to speed up the necessary controls significantly.

On the other hand, a number of financial institutions have also recognised the potential of biometrics as an affordable and secure way to deliver financial services to the customers.

The The 1st Biometrics Middle East Conference to be held from 5-6 December 2016 at the Grosvenor House, Dubai, UAE, will provide a packed programme which will help organisations to learn and explore about the latest innovations and advancements in biometrics regionally and globally in order to maintain safe and secure smart city.

No other event in the Middle East will offer a more impressive roster of keynote speakers, quality attendees and compelling content. The conference will provide an opportunity to exchange ideas and views from government and law enforcement authorities along with the banking and telecom sector from across the Middle East.

I look forward to welcoming you to Dubai this December.

Yours sincerely,

Pawan Kulkarni
Conference Director
